A VULGAR BRUTE.

Women Insulted on the Buena Vista-street Bridge. Another one of those fiends who have a mania for exposing their persons in the presence of women has made his appear-ance, and as the officers failed to capture him yesterday, it would be advisable for two or three citizens of nerve to start out armed with shotguns and give him a reception such as will cause him to long for another world right quick.

The brute made his appearance on the Buena Vista-street bridge, on the East Los Angeles side, early yesterday morning and every time a woman passed he exposed his person. He kept this up until two or three women drove by in a bugsy, and, instead of becoming frightened as the others had done, they turned and dr. ve back to the East Side police station and informed Capt, McKeog of what was going on.

The officer and a couple of firemen started for the bridge, but the brute saw their coming and made for the river bed, where he disappeared in the willows. The party chased him two or three miles down the river, but failed to catch him. Had Deputy Sheriff Russell's bloedhounds been on hand the fellow might have been treed, but he may show up again and it is to be hoped that the officers will he ve better luck.

record made by themselves; if the facts therein contained are untrue I am not to blame.

I would be pleased to approve an ordinance in which the compensation of commissioners was limited in a certain sense, not by the number of days that they might be engaged, because they teil you that "We are required to be present so that warrants for the damages to land can be signed by us," that is to say after they determine the amount to be paid each claimant for land damaged or taken, it takes three of them and a clerk constantly on hand in the office, "That the warrants can be signed by us before the property-owners can draw it from the treasury." If these commissioners can assign no better reason for spending the most of their time than that of waiting to sign warrants, I think a limit should be put on the time for which they are permitted to charge. Respectfully etc.,

All kinds of silly dispatches have been ent out regarding the damage that may overtake the Southern Pacific's main track in case the water reaches it. One was to the effect that the company will have to build about 100 miles of new track around the foo till, thus making the route at least 100 miles longer. Superintendent Mur was seen yesterday and stated that this is all bosh. Even admitting that the water does reach them, they would not have to build more than forty miles of new track, and it would not throw them ten miles out of the way. This is not at all probable, even admitting that all the water of the Colorado is flowing into the desert it would have to keep it up for five years to reach the main track.

It was estimated by an expert at Salton, yesterday, that the water evaporates almost as fast as it now flows into the desert. The Colorado River was falling, yesterday, at the rate of three or four inches a day, which will soon put it below the level of New build about 100 miles of new track around

The Militia Committee reported that they spent $35 for the cannon, and $35.31 for powder at the fireworks display. For bringing militia to the city, $30.95.

The Committee on Decorations stated that they had awarded $15 for prizes to the best-decorated cars.

The Committee on Music reported that their bills amounted to $6.00. Ordered paid. All of the other bills were ordered paid within the appropriations.

Then, at-sixty-six feet in depth we struck sait water, oil and quicks-ind. Into this well sixty six feet deen the water poured several days without filling or even raising it in the well. My idea was that it found its escape through the quicksand currents. The Colorado River, near El Rio r Pilot Kaob, has not changed its course for a year. It was and is the same now that it was one year ago on June 231, when I was there and carefully ex mined it. A few days ago I did the s me, and found that the river's bed and current were the same as one year ago. The reports that the Colorado has broken through its banks, changed its course or current at Pilot Knob, is the means of the course of current at Pilot Knob, is the means of the course of current at Pilot Knob, is the means of the course of current at Pilot Knob, is the means of the current of the course of current of the course of the current of the course of current of the course of the current of the curren same as one year ago. The reports that the Colorado has broken through its banks, changed its course or current at Pilot Knob, is the merest bosh. Friends of mine, competent judges, men who have lived where the break in the ba k of the river is said to have taken place, just in from there, say that there is not a word of truth in the report. I think you will find, when the water is finally drawn off from the Indian Wells region, that it sinks at Big Holes and Mud Lake, where those great wells and holes and subterranean passages are known to exist. The water at Salton was at a standstill

Impure or vitiated blood is nine times out of ten caused by some form of constipation or indigestion that clogs up the system, when the blood naturally becomes impregnated with the effete matter. THE agriculturists of the country sught to look for good times and seaons now that the weather bureau has been transferred to the Agricultural Department. We think Uncle Jerry must have pleasant recollections of his visit to Les Angeles, for he seems inclined to do the fair thing by us here. But in Kansas the farmers would like to have him persuade Jupiter P. to hold up a little or else house them as comfortably as Noah was during the time of the flood.

Some Santa Barbarans, who were here on the Fourtb, have reported to a paper of that place that every hetel enormous v. scarcely a bed being obtainable on Saturday night for less than $4. CITY ASSESSOR HINTON is making a commendable effort to collect some thing like an adequate assessment from the wealthy corporations of Los Angeles, an effort in which he deserves warm encouragement from all good sitizens. Every dollar that the wealthy pay lessens the burden of the poor, and there is no fear that the rich will pay on more than they own. Some of the tricks resorted to by capitalists to avoid paying their just dues are anything but creditable to them. It is said that the total raise in assessments of personal property made by Mr. Hinton amounts to over a million dollars.

REFERRING to the disorganized condition or financial relations which has recently developed between this country and Europe, Henry Clews, in his latest weekly report, says:

Such is the distrust-prevailing at the for eign centers that numerous bilis heretofore considered good drawn here on Furopean houses have become, in a large measure, unnegotiable; and the consequent scarcity of negotiable exchange compels a contination of the shipment of gold long after the balance of our security with the consequents. of negoti-ble exchange compels a contination of the shipment of gold long after the balance of our accounts with the outside world has ceased to rule against us. A coadition of things more calculated to check business and to enforce liquidation in foreign commerce could hardly be conceived. Even if there were no real reason for this distrust toward bills of exchange, this sort of discrimination is calculated to cripple importers and exporters in ways that can hardly fail to disturb confidence and produce embarrassments, which is dangerous treatment under present conditions. It is undoubtedly a gratifying evidence of strength that we have been able, without any signs of suffering, to so long endure the withdrawal of the European banking balances which are naually allowed to rest here, and to ply them off in cash without a wince; but when sur export bills become unsaleable because of the distrust directed against the foreign bouses on whom they are drawn, we ensounter a kind of gold drain of a much more serious nature; and yet nearly all the June shipments, amounting to nearly $20,000,000, have been of this forced character. European bankers may deem it wise to take in sail in every direction, but they cannot be legorant that to lumes a violent contraction upon these important foreign trade credits must precipitate more serious danger than they are now seeking to avoid. AMUNEMENTO.

A lecture unde this original title was delivered last night at Immanuel Church, being the final one of at Immanuel Church, being the final one of the so-called "Anonymous" series, all of which have been highly successful. The course has included most interesting essays by Mr. Ward, Maj. Elderkin, L. E. Mosher (Hank Wagouer.) Col. J. J. Ayers: and closed last evening with Sheldon Borden, Esq., one of our best known young attorneys. Mr. Borden made a very humorous analysis of the different staple commodities that furnish the professional wits with material for their pungent paragraphs and alleged comic sketches. In rapid succession the mystery of boarding-house hash, the eccentricities of the mule, the martyrdom of mothers-in-isw, the delights of picuics and the humors of love-making, with a passing reference to the nuses of front affair of the transfer of arms was badly managed by the Chileans, for, gates, were dealt with evoking continuous laughter and applause from the crowded audience. The lecture was a very happy and discriminative effort, and had the merit war from the Robert and Minnie to the Itata been made in Mexican waters, or on the high seas, it is doubtof being just long enough to make the hearers wish for more.

In addition to the lecture, some songs were charmingly sung by Miss Challie Burnett and by Thomas E. Rowan, Jr., and there was also a vioin solo of considerable merit played by a young lady.

A Big Concern. Within the past few days the Rober Eccles meat-smoking concern has passed into the hands of the great Cudahy Packing Company of South Omaha, and will be conducted under the management of William H. Maurice of this city, who has been local agent for the Omaha house for some years

The main bouse is one of the largest concerns of the kind in the United States. Last year their s ies ran up to $7,000,000, and the pay roll was $400,000. A few weeks ago Mr. Maurice visited Omaha, and the subject of starting a branch house in Los Angeles came up, and a new plant was ordered at once, and the Eccles works were secured. The company proposes to make this the main establishment, if they can secure meat enough, and as they cusploy a large number of people it will be one of the biggest things that has come to Los Angeles for some time past. Work h saiready commenced, and if sufficient meat cannot be secured in Southern California it will be brought from the north and east. Mr. Maurice deserves considerable credit for bringing the establishment to this city. The main beuse is one of the largest con-

At a recent show in London, if an exchange can be believed, a gentleman took his fourteen daughters along, and cannot march across the desert lands which now separate the contending forces. There appears to be no doubt they were exceedingly anxious to see that Balmaceda has up to date and hear the Edison phonograph, attached to which is an extra charge of sixpence a head. He approached the gate and asked:

"Got the phonograph in here?"
"Yes, sir," came the answer; "sixpence, please." of course; now, what do you charge for my party? I've got fourteen daugn-

The outlook for the future of Los Angeles, taken all in all, is a most encouraging one. The boom, while itwas something that we do not care to see repeated, was in some respects an untold advantage to our city and the country surrounding. The solid improvements which we now have we should have been compelled to wait ten or fifteen years for, in ordinary course of things. Our growth was sudden. Upon arriving off this port early or the morning of June 10, the Captain of known in the United States by the time this letter can arrive there.

While the Congressional government was not fully cognizant of the Itata affair, it deplored that any of its representatives should have violated laws, and as evidence of this President Montt has directed that upon the Itata's arrival a any port the snip and cargo shall be placed at the disposal of the United States for return to San Diego for adjudication, the return of the vessel to be on such terms as Adthe Montserrat, on board of which was your correspondent, concluded to wait until daylight before entering the harbor. Those who were on the bridge to obtain a glimpse of what was thought to be a city in ruins eagerly scanned the shore line to obtain a view of the surroundings.

As the morning light broke it revealed the presence of three of the white squadron, the United States dently placing the case in his hands for settlement.

The Congressional party officials, while feeling very sore at the non-receipt of the Itata's cargo of arms, are desirous to act in such a manner as to in no wise prejudice the feelings of the United States authorities and ships San Francisco, Charleston and Baltimore, and in a line with the Baltimore, exhibiting a marked contrast, the old Pensacola lay at her moorings. The British gunboat Daphne, some twenty-seven merchant ships and steamers moored in tiers gave the port a lively appearance. In vain we looked for any sign of ruins. Within range of the cruisers Charleston and San Francisco the famous Itsia was moored with United States officers and in the extreme, and President Montt and his cabinet are unstinted in their

Landing at the custom-house pier at a series of steps built of railroad iron, the entire populace of Iquique seemed to be gathered, but I soon ascertained that the mobiley crowd was composed and navy officers, soldiers and sailors. Admiral Montt, President of the Congressional party, had given orders to the fleet to abstain from using loadfired in the excitement prevalent and the traces of their bursting can be distinguished. From interviews with leading men here of foreign nationalities. I flud that the concensus of opinion is that the burning of the buildings was caused by the government troops under Col. Soto, from a battery of light guns planted in the Plaza Arturo Piatt Soto had his forces engaged in an at-tempt to dislodge the Congressional soldiers from the custom-house and re-fused to allow the firemen to extin-guish the flames, firing upon them to ompel their desistance

One of the peculiar effects of a shell was visible in the Plaza. The projec-tile had passed through the English Club, making a clean-cut hole, struck the iron railing of the Plaza garden, and deflecting some pieces of the rail-ing, passed toward the corner of the clock tower, bringing one of the pillars down in its course, and finally expend-ing its force in the wall of the hotel on the west side of the square. The clock tower, since restored to its pristine beauty, did net collapse, and now serves to mark the fime for the town.

The peculiar mapner in which the warfare between the two parties is conducted was exemplified on the 9th inst. About four o'clock in the afternoon the torpedo cruisers Almirante inshing his little lunch, the plaguey Lynch and Condell, with the transport brute sat down behind the house and Imperiale, arrived off the port. They were at least seven miles off when fire was opened from their long-range bow guns. At such a distance it was im possible to effect any damage; the ammunition was simply wasted. The monitor Huascar and corvette Abtas got under way and went out to sea in pursuit of the cruisers. Upon their being seen the cruisers got off under full steam and, with their superior little girl, while left alone in the hous power, were soon at a long distance. When thefarcical attack was at an end the Lynch, Condell and Imperiale went to Tocopilla, 110 miles south of Iquique, a port in the hands of the Congressional party. There they landed a body of men, carried off the sate from the custom-house, containing a few dollars in silver, some stamps at Lexington, Va., was opened last week for the purpose of removing his remains to the vault beneath the ped-estal where his statue is to be unveiled and licenses. The doors of the custom-house were torn down, a number of women assaulted by the sailors and others threatened. Books and revenue others threatened. Books and revenue accounts were also destroyed by the marauding party. After cutting the land line wires the cruisers and transport left for Valparaiso to communicate the news of their alleged victorious attack on Pisagua, iquique and other northern-ports. These so-called grandiloquent victories were duly cabled to foreign countries.

The Pope Kept in Ignorance of the Way the Money Went. Discovery of the Administrator's Doings Results in the Latter's Dismissal-His Career of Wild Spaculation. By Telegraph to The Times.

ROME, July 8 .- [By Cable and Associated Press. | Additional important communications from an unusual but reliable source in regard to the crisis in St. Peter's pence have just come to that the Pope dismissed Manager Folchi and the old administration, appointing in their places a commission consisting of Managers Appoloni Diruggiere and Aloise Massella, to whom were given full powers. No one, however, has yet been able to find out the exact motive, the real secret of the affair, which brought about this mportant change. It was known that that no traces could be left. Manager Folchi's dismissal was decided upon on account of losses sustained by St. Peter's pence and because of imprudent investments and loans which had been made under his administration, but that was all. It is now known that Folchi last winter, supported by Prince Buoncom-pagni and Baron Lazzaroni, resolved, in order to serve the Banco di Roma, in which the Vatican held 10,000 out of the 12,000 shares, besides other secur ities, to establish first in Paris and London and afterwards in Rome, Berlin and New York, a syndicate of Catholic banks, with the object of absorbing the financial societies of bsorbing the financial societies of Rome, which were known to be in a disastrous condition, and restore them to vitality, while at the same time raising the value of the depreci-ated securities. Above all they wanted to save the Banco di Roma, intending (as they eventually did) to entirely reconstruct it. The Banco di Roma was created with a nominal capital of 6,000,000 lire ($1,-200,000), but the real working capital was only half that amount. Mgr. Fol-chi, having taken on account five-sixths of all the shares, the administration of St. Peter's pence found itself involved really to the extent of 2.500, 000 lire, or $500,000. Folchi had, more over, deposited in the bank 3,000,000

At that time financial circles were interested in supporting the creation of Catholic banks in order to put the depreciated securities on a firmer footing. Folchi therefore proposed that the Vatican enter the combination to the extent of 3,000,000 lire, urging that the millions invested in the Banco di Roma could not be saved in any other way. Cardinal di Rug-giero opposed the project and a com-mission of cardinals flually supported him. But as the commission was merely consultative, Folchi ignored them, and in conjunction with Laz-zoroni and Buoncompagne carried out San Bernardino Courier: Let us commence, not later than day after tomorrow, to get up a Fourth of July celebration for 1892.

NEW YORK, July 8.—A local paper prints a story about the body of the murderer Smiler, which was removed from Sing Sing by his wife. and pierced the lower lobe of the left lung. Another entered eight inches below the last one and passed entirely through the body. The fourth shot passed through the left arm just below the elbow. The last two shots did no serious harm. Death resulted from the shock and hemorrhage.

All the chambers of the revolver were loaded when Braynard was arrested. This was done when he went to Main street immediately after the shooting. He possibly anticipated an attack from Charles Nagle.

Clay W. Taylor will conduct Braynard's case. The slight wound in P. P. Coffman's side is pronounced to be a bullet wound. It is conjectured that this shot was intended for Charles Nagle.

The funeral services were held at 3:30, and were attended by many prominent men, including State officials.

The funeral services were brief, but impressive, consisting of a dirge on the organ, the reading of the scripture, an eloquent prayer, benediction and closured that this shot was intended for Charles Nagle.

The ladies of Gotham are very good to the gentlemen of this place. They are presenting them with miniatures of themselves exquisitely painted on ivory Time was when a simple photo, card size, was good enough for anybody's best fellow. Then a cabinet must be bought for him, or a panel nearly as large as life and as natural as the camera could make it. Now it costs twenty-five dollars to give one's likeness to one's divinity, for it must be upon the finest of polished ivory and so beautifully tinted that none but a real artist can do the work.

The most approved ivory likenes larger than the pictures of George Washington upon our postage stamps. And they are designed to be fitted within a locket which is to be worn upon the watch chain. Twenty-five dollars is the very cheapest sum for which the ivory cost fifty dollars, but an artist who makes a specialty of them says, cost no more than twenty-five in Lunon." And so one must pay no more than that in this country.

Still another way of giving one's likeness to one's best boy is by having it painted upon the inside of the case of his watch. This method possesses one advantage over those previously mentioned, namely, that of endurance. Seasons may wax and wane. Time may come and time may go, but as long as the ticking of that particular watch goes on, just so long will the dainty, smiling features look out from the inside of the golden cover. Nothing can erase it and nothing can cover it up save another picture painted over it. And shame be upon the artist who could be prevailed upon to do so ruthless a deed.—New York World.

And the U.S. Experiment Station is located here, the only one in Southern California. This celebrated property is bounded by Pomona, Ontario and Riverside. Now, why not raise two crops, it is being done by others, as our beets are ready for the factory in 4 or 5 months, where the cash is waiting to buy all the bests you can raise; 250 acres are now about ready, and a contract with the Messrs. Oxnard Beet Sugar Company to consume 4000 acres of beets next year, and 5000 acres thereafter each year for 3 years, making a grand total of 21 500 acres of beets in 5 years, and will double the capacity if you raise the beets. Where on earth are you offered such inducements and such returns in the same length of time? This great question is always askel: What will I do for a tiving until my tre-s support m-? Their principal reason for so deciding was that Armand is a successful teacher of French, Greek and Latin—and he is that—preparing young people for college and foreign travel with remarkable success. He is also in fine health, about forty years old and ready in conversation with French grace and gesticulation. DEAR MRS. HATTIE CROCKER ALEX— * * * I want to give you the names of many of your acquaintances who belong to that infamous gang, on the sly; people whom you would never suspect. It took me six years to find them out and to discover the way they work. It is because I knew them so thoroughly that they could not get the best either of you or of me. Even now you have to be extremely careful, as they are still plotting against you.

I have no fear of ill luck. Yet I have had in my life a few experiences I cannot explain, and one of these happened to me only the other day. Being a smoker of cigarettes buy little books of cigarette paper. These have covers of cardboard, and each contains about 100 sheets of what is called tains about 100 sheets of what is called rice paper. On a Saturday morning I purchased one of these books, and used it that day and the next. I have a little square table alongside of my chair in the sitting room which is meant to hold books I may be reading and other little things which I use. On Sunday night I made and smoked a cigarette just before going to bed. The table at that time was covered with a white cloth on which was the "Life of Savonarola" by Clarke, a covered with a white cloth on which was the "Life of Savonarola" by Clarke, a match safe, a sancer for ashes, my tobacco pouch, my cigarette holder and this book of cigarette paper. There were when I went to bed about seventy sheets of paper

When I picked up the book it was empty, and I was forced to hunt up another.
Everything else was on the table as I had left it the night before. But alongside of the book lying on the white cloth was a round copper coin, worn badly on one side, but showing raised characters on the other. My wife is a collector of coins in a very small way, having thirty or forty of those that have struck her fancy, and when I looked at this coin I had found I supdining room to ask her where she got it, when she startled me slightly by speaking as though she was obliged to me for having procured it for her. I., of course, knew I had never seen it before, and I found out that it was as strange to her. She called the servant in, for we both supposed it must belong to her, but she after examining it declared she had never seen it. She also proved that she had not been in the sitting room since the after-noon of the day before. My wife and I then went into the front room and removed everything from the subjecting to find the cigarette paper, but without success. There are four facts which we established: First, that the cigarette paper had disappeared between 10 o'clock on Sunday night and 7 o'clock on Monday morning; second, that the coin had made its appearance in the interval; third, that we had never seen the interval; third, that we had never seen the coin before and did not know what it was; and fourth, that no person so far as we knew had been in that sitting room during that time. The folding doors between the sitting room and the bedroom were wide open during the night, and it would be impossible for any one to move about that room without being heard.

I took the coin to a numismatist, who told me it was an Egyptian five para piece. Its value is about one cent. I have the coin still, and I am no nearer knowing how I got it now than I was the morning I found it resting on the white tablecloth alongside of the empty covers of the cigarette book.

Now for a story of one of the greatest scares I ever got. Between the villages of of the Saguenay river, in Canada, there

There, outlined against the bushes in the shadow of the bridge, was a tall, white, misty sort of a figure, dressed apparently in long and flowing robes and having one arm raised. It seemed to me can give you no idea in words of how real it looked to me from whatever point I gazed, and how my blood seemed to be cold when I watched that infernal hand beckon to me.

At the end of the bridge there was a fence which I climbed and began to work my way down the bank. The thing was there still, and I cannot say with truth that I went very fast. I threw stones at it, which had no effect whatever, and I was all ready if it moved toward me—as I really half believed it would if I stoned it long enough—to get up that bank in short order. At last I was close to it and I put out my hand very cautiously, for it was something there. Then I searched for the amount of the programment or two I was confused. Then I searched for the cause of the appearance, as that had not vanished, and speedily found it. Under the bridge there was a little pool of water, which, acting as a mirror, reflected the monlight upon the bushes, and the shape the light assumed made my ghost. The explanation was so simple, that, coming as it did after my great fright and struggle with myself before I could make up my mind to examine—it, it made me very angry. Had I been able to connect it with any persons I should have wished to hurt them in some way, but as it was it did not year the fright the wished to examine—it, it made me very angry. I ONLY TOUCHED THE BUSHES. It must have been after 11 o'clock when I heard one of the boys speak of the cold. The month was October, and, although the night was cool, no one accustomed to a Canadian winter would have called it even chilly. Not only that, but we had a big fire in the open fireplace, so large a one in fact that we had been forced to move away from it. We all felt this cold, however, in the most distinct way, and it seemed to me afterward, although this probably was my imagination, that the flame became dim. The cold did not arouse in us any idea of the supernatural, for we all concluded it was the chill of the night.

While we were talking we heard the sound of footsteps in the hall. There were no carpets and the noise was distinct, coming through the open door. We had reflecting lauterns with us, and we crowded to the doorway to see who it was that had come to join us. I distinctly remember thinking it was some one of the college The month was October, and, although the thinking it was some one of the college boys who had made up his mind to share our watch. But when we looked out itied the hall, with the light of the lanterns turned on its bare boards, there was no one there. It is beyond a question that no woman was in sight. Yet as we looked we heard a woman's steps coming toward us and we heard the swish of her dress as it dragged.

It needed but a glance at the startled faces of Charlie and Jack to tell me they heard what I heard. As the thing, what ever it was, came toward us, we drew back while it turned and went up the stairs. We remained where we were, lis-tening. The footsteps mounted the stairs, and then we heard them overhead, moving through all the rooms, now fainter, nov louder. At last they came back and moved down the stairs, and with them came, it seemed to me, the same feeling of cold. They passed into the room where we were and moved back into the room in the rear. They sounded exactly like the movements of a person who is looking for something. At one time I thought I heard something like sighs, but as the others did not hear this I think I must have been mistaken.

THE FOOTSTEPS MOUNTED THE STAIRS. The footsteps and the swish of the dress came toward us and went away. Up and down the hall they went for, I should think,

It happened one night when I was in my fifteenth year that I was detained in Tadousac until 12 o'clock, and the people I was with talked of the ghost of a Canadian habitant who had committed suicide in the ravine, which was supposed to haunt the scene of the self slaughter. About ten minutes past midnight I left the house and started to walk home in the moonlight. When I reached the bridge I looked down into the ravine, and my heart seemed to stand still. Being somewhat blown by my fright and my run I stopped, and, thinking for a moment, went back. There was the figure, still beckening with that horrid hand. It seemed to me! I could see eyes that glared at me. I threw more stones, but they had no effect whatever, and I made up my mind! I would go down and see what that thing was, no matter what happened. THE RAILROADS.

A Bad Year for Railroad Receivers.

THE PENINSULAR RAILROAD

uthern Pacific and the Redlands Motor Road-The Coast Line-The Electric Road to University.

In its issue of July 4 the Railway Age publishes a table of the railroad foreclosure sales and receiverships for the first half of the year 1891. During these six months sixteen roads, having an aggregate mileag of 2,590 and securities amounting to $106, 531,000, were sold at foreciosure sale. The most important was the Chicago, Kansas & Nebraska, with 1471 miles and $53,688,000 stock and bonds; next in importance were the Texas Central, 229 miles and $3,885,000 becurities, and the Dayton, Fort Wayne & Chicago, 261 miles and $20,500,000 inde btedness and capitalization. None of the other lines sold exceeded 100 miles in length except the Kansas City & Southern, 111 miles, and the Covington and Macon, 107 miles.

It is predicted that the foreclosure sales of 1891 will be greater than for any year since 1886. During the six months sixteen roads, representing 1512 miles, $56,204,000 capital, were placed in the hands of receivers. They are mostly southern lines, and all that are important were newly completed or still under construction. The list includes the Charleston, Cincinnati and Chicago, 175 miles; the Georgia Southern and Fiorida, 286 miles; the Atlantic and Danriorida, 280 miles; the Marietta and Dan-ville, 299 miles; the Macon and Birming-ham, 97 miles; the Kentucky Union, 94 miles; the Pennsylvania, Poughkeepsie and Boston, 73 miles, and other less impor-tant lines. The list in number, mileage and capitalization is about half that for the first six montas of 1890. THE SAN BERNARDINO AND REDLANDS.

In this paper I st week it was briefly announced that the Southern Pacific company had, purchased the San Bernardino and Redlands motor road. The details of the scheme were not definitely known at the time, and in some quarters some doubt was expressed regarding its truth, but verification of and further particulars are contained in a press dispatch from San Francisco which gives, apparently, official information, It says that the Kediands and San Bernardino motor railroad has been sold to the Southern Pacific Company, and the first payment of the purchase price has been paid. The consideration of sale is $120,000. The road will be changed to a broad-guage and connected with main line near Old San Bernardino, and trains will be run to Los Angeles direct from San Bernardino and Redlands.

THE LOWER CALIFORNIA ROAD. THE LOWER CALIFORNIA ROAD.

E. S. Babcock has arrived in San Diego from his trip to Europe. He states frankly that on account of the financial complicathat on account of the financial complica-tions in which Europe is involved the accomplishment of his mission was no easy task. But he adds that he was successful. The Peninsular Kallroad Company has a capital of $2,500,000 and has power to bor-row $2,500,000 more. Mr. Babcock says that the instructions of the directors to Mr. Gra-ham were to push the survey as rapidly as possible and then begin construction. He says the Coronado railroad will be used to Fifth street, but that its charter must be excended to D street, the Englishmon insist-ing upon that point.

shasta division, has been issued by the passenger department of the Southern Pacific Company.

The Board of Railroad Commissioners granted an extension of thirty days to the Puliman Palace Car Company, in which to answer the complaint of J. A. Warren of Sacramento.

The poles for the University line of the Consolidated Electric Railway Company are now being set up. It is confidently expected to have that line in operation within ninety days.

The Southern Pacific Company is making preparations to enable it to handle, if possible, all the business which is offered via the Sunset route this year. Last year the line was handleapped by the scarcity of cars, but lately it has added to the roiling stock several hundred new thirty-ton-capacity freighbears.

The statement that the Southern Pacific people were convinced that they would have to move the track of the main line of the road from its present location on the Colorado Desert to higher ground distant from the flood, was erroneous and unauthorized. The officials from the beginning of the so-called flood have felt no uneasiness whatever regarding the main line in the desert.

This, from the Santa Barbara Press, has a familiar sound: "W. M. Eddy, challenger.

of the railroad committee for this county, has returned from San Francisco and reports that in conversation with Col. Fred Crocker and Senator Stanford, both had expressed themselves favorable to beginning work on the gap as soon as the right-of-way is secured, and that the railroad company would certainly fulfill its part of the agreement."

ORO GRANDE.

LATEST NEWS FROM THE MINING

All the Mines Looking Well, and the Outlook Very Encouraging-A General Waking up on the Desert.

ORO GRANDE, July 8,-|Correspondence of THE TIMES.| Since my last, things have en moving along in Oro-Grande. have no cause to complain of the heat, so far, with few exceptions, the days have been cool and pleasant; the nights remarkably so. Life is enjoyable on the Mojave River during the summer season. For one thing, if nothing more, there are, strange as it may seem, no mosquitos. For this we are thankful.

There seems to be no little disappointment that your correspondent has not been more regular in his letters. Perhaps I shall do better in the future. As promises are often broken will make none.

The lawsuit, about the right to the Carbonate mine is settled, the injunction removed, and now that work has again been resumed upon that mine, we may confidently look for great developments in that resumed upon that mine, we may confidently look for great developments in that quarter soon.

The Ophir people are now engaged in the work of exploration, running levels, sinking shafts and generally opening up the mine, and will, so I learn, erect a mill of their own.

The Embody and Biaisdell mine near town, now has a double compart shaft down to a depth of seventy-five feet, from which point a level is pushed soont to connect with the main working shaft now sinking. So far the vein has more than met expectations. I gave an outline of this vein in a previous letter, all of which has been, by development, fully sustained.

Work on the Helper mine, owned by Rose. Hudson & Co., is going ahead with more than satisfactory results to the company. In all, there are eight or ten different mines at work in the camp, no one of them employing any considerable force of men. The prespects are today brighter, and the outlook better than at any time in the past. Capt. Baine, who is at the head of a strong company, will soon begin operations on an extensive scale, as he has a group of mines under contract to work.

There seems to be a general waking up, a revival in mining matters generally, all over the desert. No little interest is being manifested along the line of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad to the east of this, especially in Lava Bed district, thirty miles east of Daggett. There is also a runnor that J. B. Osbourne of Paggett has effected a sale of his noted gold property which is located near old Camp Cady, on the Mojave River, thirty miles below Daggett, and known as the Alvara mine

The Eminent Chinese Physician.

DR. WOH,

Dr. Woh's life work has been from early youth one of persistent and untiring observation, study and investigation, as fully as lay in his power to perfect himself in all branches of the art of healing human sickness and disease.
